Project BINDU

Joint initiative with our Client on HIV/AIDS - AWARENESS

Project BINDU is about connecting the DOTS for dignity and empowerment: AIDS is a disease which not only impacts the patient physically and emotionally, it also impacts the patient socially because of the stigma attached to the disease. No other disease impacts any human being mostly women and children like the way AIDS does. Their fault- innocent victims, their Punishment- discrimination, insult, taboo and finally death after a deprived life!!

Project Background: Separation from family, spouses and familiar surroundings along with the loneliness in an alien environment creates a sense of anonymity. Further, lack of social responsibility and awareness makes the migrating population at workforce level susceptible towards practicing high risk sexual behaviors, hence making them more vulnerable to HIV.

The objective of this project is to support the fight against the spread of the HIV/AIDS amongst the migrating population at workforce level by increasing awareness.
