Combined Guarding Solutions

Our Mobile Security out of hours service and our Guarding solutions services and be combined to provide a very flexible blended Security Solution designed to fit around your security needs.

Securitas Security Services Ireland Limited offer the complementary service that adds value to static guarding but radically reduces overall costs of your security services.

A successful security solution often consists of a combination of Security Officer, Mobile Security Services and the deployment of the correct Technology.

Carefully selected security officers with the appropriate training for the task are supported by, for example, access control systems, reporting systems, monitoring systems and alarm systems.

What company has good security technology? What Alarm Monitoring Station can we engage? Do we need someone who can be called-out in the event of an alarm...? Sound familiar?

We know how confusing it can be with many different suppliers of a single thing – security. You want to focus all your power on production, so why make things difficult?

Let us provide you with a worry-free comprehensive solution. With Securitas combination service, you get everything you need in order to protect your operations.

One complete security solution with one contact person, one contract and one fixed price for full security with no hassles.

One flexible solution is combining Guarding and Mobile services. Our customers find that replacing one or more static officers with highly visible random patrols is an effective deterrent and it reduces their security spend.

Our innovative audit trails ensure that our customers have clear visible evidence of all internal and external patrols and the audit trail of those "must visit" areas.

This proof of service provides our customers with complete peace of mind, and ensures that the savings in cost do not compromise the required level of security our customers' needs.

This fully ensures total business continuity for them, their customers and staff.
