

SecuritasSentry

An effective security program is a combination of many different elements - highly-trained security personnel, useful technology solutions, and procedures which properly integrate the two. By including advanced technologies in our security solutions, Securitas USA has developed several options to offer enhanced security alternatives that fit within our clients' budgets.

What Is SecuritasSentry?

SecuritasSentry is a wireless, battery-powered motion sensor and camera system that generates a 10-second video clip when triggered by any motion. Powered by rechargeable lithium batteries, SecuritasSentry uses Passive Infrared (PIR) to detect heat and movement. Built-in infrared illuminators allow the camera to record incidents with no or minimal ambient light (keeping in mind the maximum range and environmental conditions). Lightweight and portable, SecuritasSentry can be easily installed, removed or relocated, without the need for invasive wiring or complex installations.

When triggered, the 10-second video clip is sent via a cellular signal to the on-site security personnel or a Securitas Mobile response team. The recipient views the video from their smartphone or computer, and can determine if the alert warrants a response. If needed, security personnel can respond to the alerted area, quickly dispatch a mobile officer, or engage law enforcement, should the situation require it.

SecuritasSentry Plus can provide all the same benefits as SecuritasSentry but instead transmits signals to our Remote Monitoring Center rather than to the on-site guard. This upgraded solution can be beneficial for sites that may not have on-site coverage for every shift, but require additional coverage of specific risk areas during off-peak hours. Alarms would be transmitted to the Remote Monitoring Center and incidents handled according to the site's operating procedures.

An Integrated Technology Solution

SecuritasSentry is not available as a standalone hardware package, but as an additional security component to be integrated with other Securitas guarding services. It is designed to work seamlessly with your existing security program, so minimal adjustments or investments are needed.

A physical security force is a critical component for many security operations. A highly trained security officer will greet your guests, employees, contractors and vendors while setting the tone for a professional and safe visit. When security patrols are performed by a uniformed security officer, this can convey that your facility takes its security seriously. Furthermore, an officer on-site can quickly respond to safety or security situations, and guide personnel to safe zones in the event of an emergency.

Securitas USA will work closely with you to determine if SecuritasSentry, or another Integrated Guarding solution, fits your facility's security requirements.

- Construction sites
- HVAC and rooftops
- Cellular sites or radio towers
- Commercial properties
- Vehicle lots or dealerships
- Agricultural sites
- Vacant lots
- Remote locations
- Mines, petrochem or bio-energy sites
- Parks & recreational points of interest

Why SecuritasSentry?

SecuritasSentry is a key to a more robust security program. The sensor-activated video clip of an intrusion event serves as a force-multiplier to a security officer or mobile response team. Utilizing your Securitas USA on-site officers, trained field service management, Securitas Mobile response, centralized monitoring and/or local law enforcement, we will work with you to design a comprehensive Integrated Guarding package to meet your needs.

Many businesses want to increase security coverage by adding additional officers, but often face budgetary constraints. SecuritasSentry serves as a highly effective guard enhancement solution that can be implemented at a fraction of the cost of adding additional security staff.

Alternatively, SecuritasSentry can be utilized to deliver cost reductions to an existing program and can potentially eliminate unnecessary shifts or patrols while enhancing, not reducing, the quality of your security program.

Our Commitment to Service

Securitas USA's priority is to help maintain a safe and secure environment for your facility, employees and visitors. The first step to determine whether SecuritasSentry is right for your facility is to perform a site operational analysis.

After our security management helps assess your security needs, they will work closely with your team to develop a customized, integrated security program. This includes establishing the staffing needs, adjusting the schedule, and identifying areas that require intrusion detection. We are committed to developing response plans that will provide optimal coverage at a fraction of the price.
