

Hotel Security Solutions

“Does your need for extra security provision threaten customer service?”

“Do you need extra cover during peak hours?”

“Could you cut costs by replacing extra staff with visits by our licensed officers?”

Securitas and the Hotel Industry

Securitas understand the importance of looking after your customers needs and appreciate this can be difficult at peak times.

We understand that security is an ever-growing issue, with an increasing amount of pressure in the hotel industry to protect staff, key customer groups and the lone traveller.

By working together, we can deliver that competitive edge, whilst saving you time and money where it matters most.

Audit Trail

All Security Officers carry a personal digital assistant, which is used in conjunction with strategically placed barcodes. The barcodes can be placed inside or outside of the hotel at agreed points, providing a full audit trail of the patrol.

A 'real-time' report is then e-mailed to your desktop. The report will highlight obstructions, such as room service trays in the corridors and confirm that all fire extinguishers are in place and fire exits clear.

“The security of our guests, their property and our hotel take the highest priority”

Floor Walking

Security Presence at Peak Times

Night time at some city centre hotels can be a hectic affair! Securitas can act as a visually deterrent against unruly guests and enhance the safety of your staff at peak times. We can provide short periods of presence as required.

Rapid Response

With the largest dedicated vehicle fleet in the UK and Ireland, we are available to respond to any issues which may arise. This can range from the need for extra security presence in a hostile situation, to helping when key customers arrive.

Lone Workers

Do you really need extra staff working at night to enhance security? Securitas licensed officers are able to keep in regular contact with any staff who may be working alone and assist with accompanied visits.

Securitas 5 Star Security Service allows you to utilise our fully trained officer in many ways. You have the flexibility to use our officers as and when required. A full audit trail is provided for each service, giving you peace of mind that your guests and staff are in a safe environment.
