Shaping the security
of tomorrow
Hyatt Tysons Corner
March 25-26, 2025
Washington, DC
Securitas

Shaping the security of tomorrow

Securitas

Securitas Global Clients Event

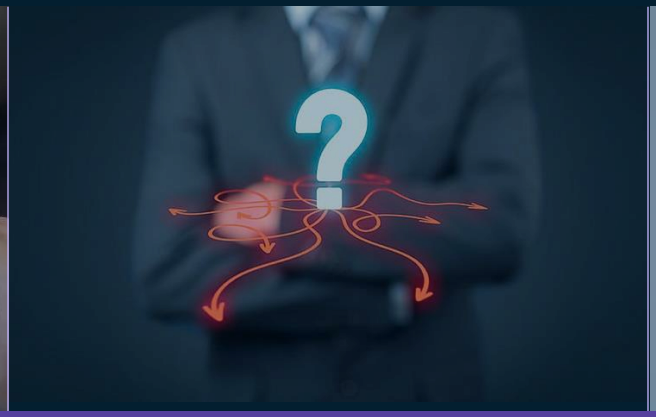
Risk intelligence

MARTIN ALTHÉN
President, Securitas Digital

MICHAEL EVANS
Director Risk Intelligence Center,
Securitas Digital

Information overload

Difficulty filtering through so much information to extract meaningful insights.



Lack of relevant information

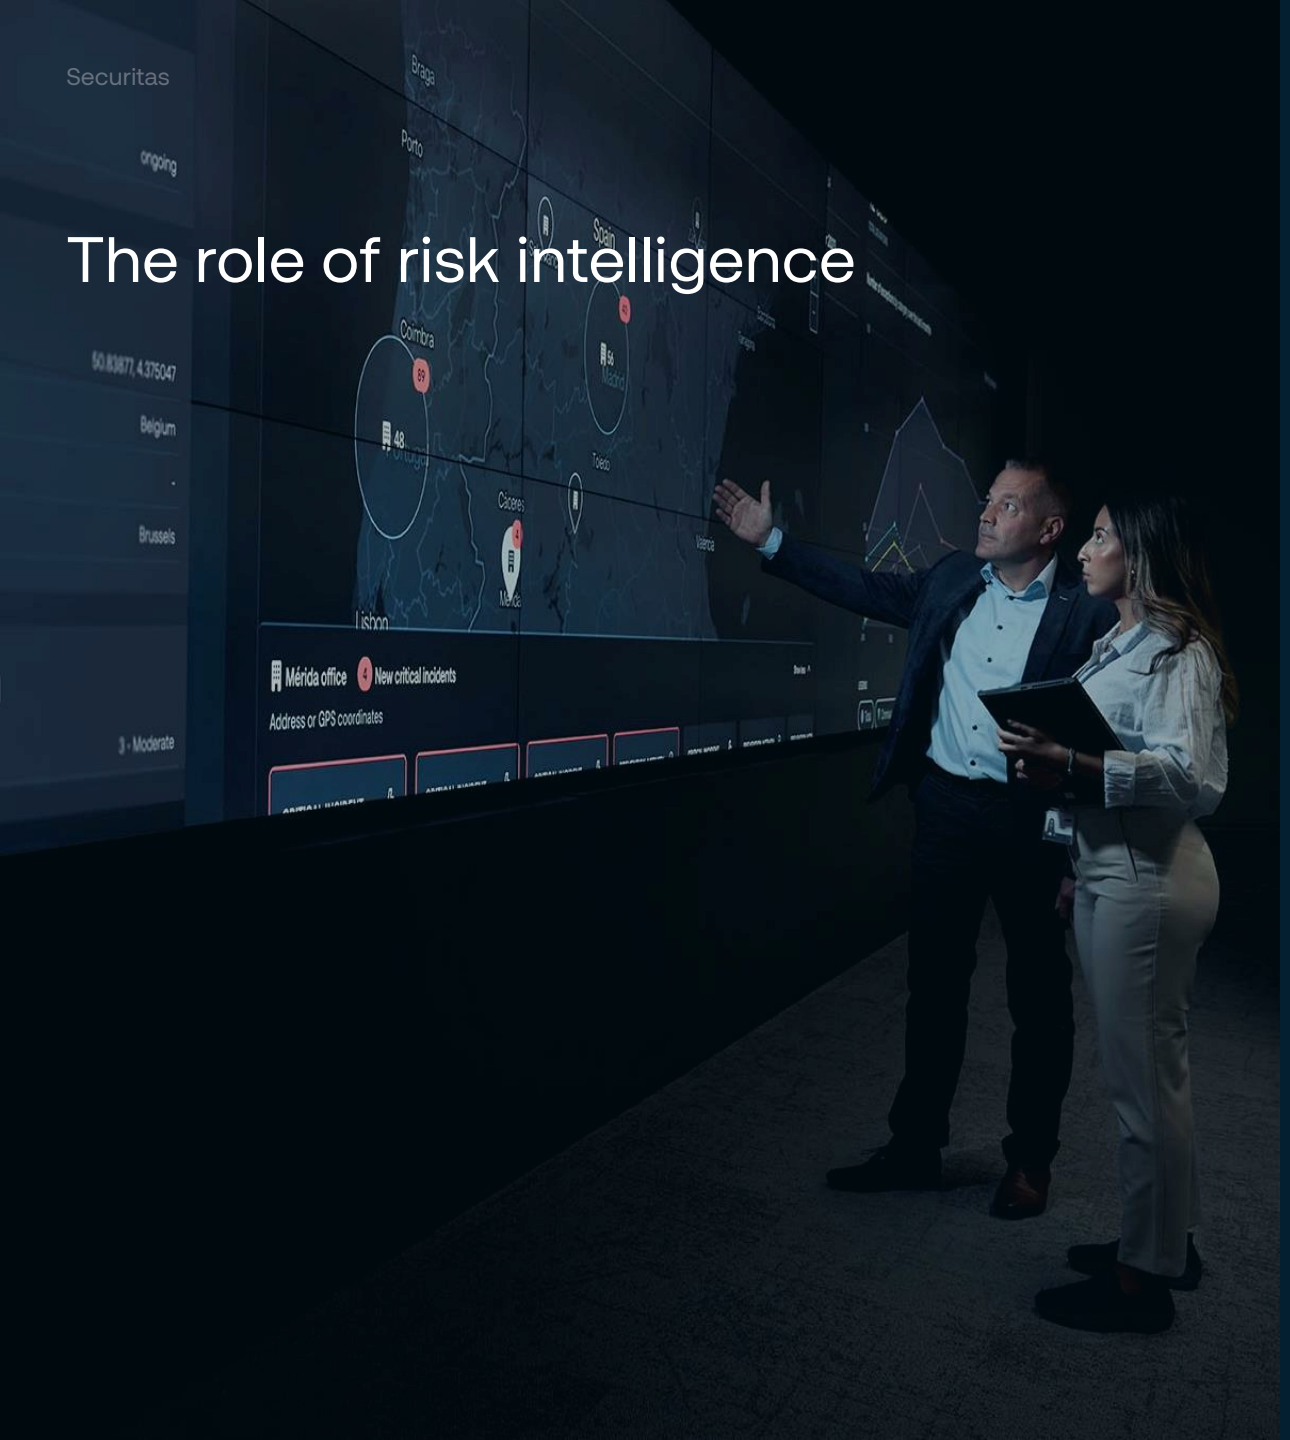
There's a pressing need for actionable intelligence. The right information at the right time.

Mis/dis/mal information

False information, bias, disruptive new tech and human error can have a huge impact.

Static security practices

Measures can become outdated quickly, exposing existing vulnerabilities and creating new ones.



The role of risk intelligence

Finished intelligence is actionable

You cannot stop threat actors or events, but you can mitigate your risk exposure.

Threat + Asset + Vulnerability = Risk

Why are organizations becoming intelligence-led?

- Accurate
- Timely
- Relevant
- Actionable
- Decision-making advantage

How we produce finished intelligence

Requirements

Situational awareness

Crime and security, environmental, geopolitics, infrastructure, protest and unrest, terrorism and extremism, war and conflict

Specific requirements

- Protective intelligence
- Threat intelligence
- Service intelligence

Collection

All source intelligence

- OSINT
  Open-source intelligence
- SOCMINT
  Social media intelligence
- Closed sources
- Organization specific

Analysis

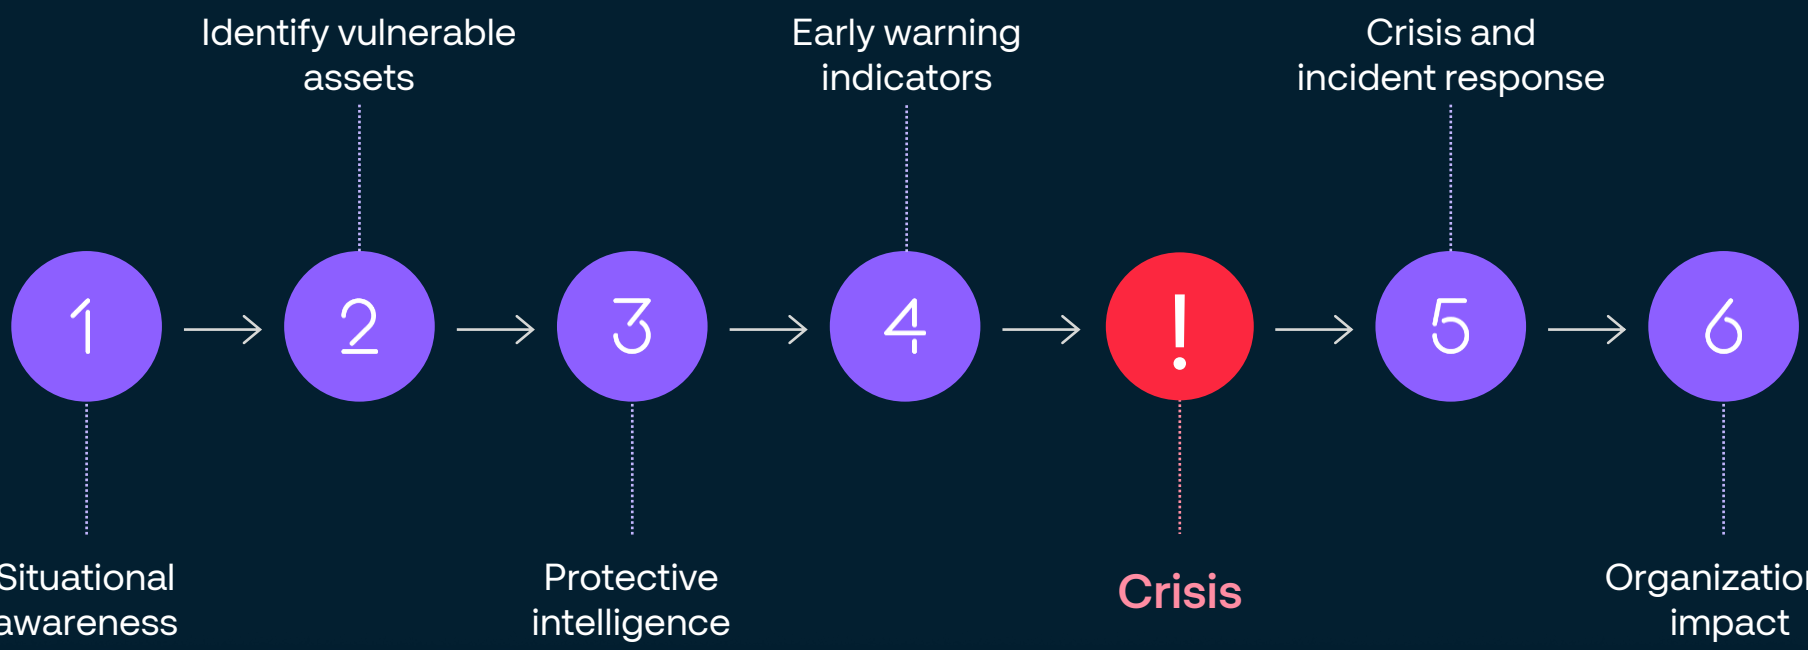
Technology

Human expertise

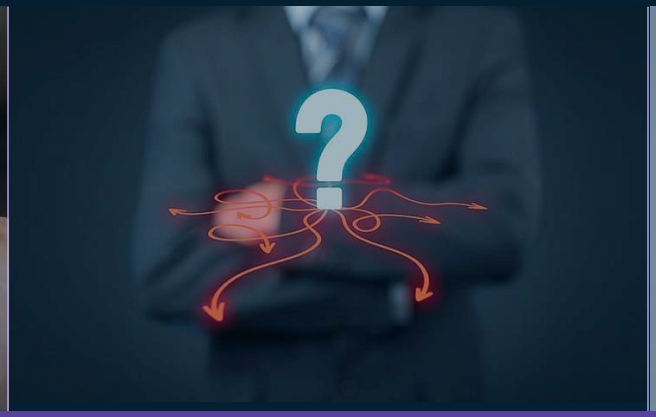
Intelligence

- Alerting
- Analysis
- Investigations

How to mitigate a threat before it becomes a risk



Information overload



Lack of relevant information

Mis/dis/mal information

Static security practices

This is where Securitas' Intelligence-led Security steps in.

We deliver industry-leading actionable intelligence by collecting, analyzing, and assessing available data on threats, risks, and vital security information.

Combining our Digital Risk Intelligence...

Securitas

...with industry leading Risk Management...

PINKERTON®

...to pioneer the next generation of Intelligence-led Security

Securitas